1. The project

AlbanianFest presents the dream of creating a large event dedicated to Albanians in Italy, also open to people living elsewhere in Europe. The project is still to be built. The date, venue, artists, programme and prices are not confirmed.

2. Expression of interest

Completing the form expresses interest. You do not buy a ticket, reserve a place or commit to attending. No payment is required at this stage and the event is not guaranteed to take place.

The total number includes you and is an estimate: 1 means coming alone, 2 means two people in total. Do not submit data about accompanying people. Any future participation conditions will be defined separately.

3. Using the form

Provide your own accurate and relevant data. All requested fields are required except the phone number. Consent is dedicated to AlbanianFest and is not preselected.

Repeated submissions with the same email do not create a new registration or automatically change the previous one. If an error occurs, you can try again with the fields retained. The thank-you page is shown after storage confirmation.

Do not use the form for abuse, unauthorised access or automated requests that interfere with the service.

4. Communications

If the project takes shape, communications will concern AlbanianFest through the contact details you provided. No priority order of contact is promised. Expressing interest does not activate general newsletters and the optional phone number does not authorise additional promotional communications.

5. Website content

The ideas presented may evolve and do not constitute a final programme. The website does not offer purchases, payments, accounts or ticket sales. Content must not be used to create false communications or attributions to AlbanianFest.

6. Privacy and technical tools

The Privacy Policy describes data processing and data subject rights. The Cookie Policy describes the website's technical tools. Both documents can be read and downloaded from the Legal documents page.

7. Updates and rights

The date at the beginning identifies the latest update. Any event participation conditions will be made available when the project is defined. Mandatory rights under applicable law remain unaffected.
